CHRONIC PAIN & ILLNESS FOCUSED

PLAY THERAPY

Chronic pain, illness or disability affects children emotionally, physically, cognitively, and socially. Their medical treatment often occurs in healthcare settings where their mental health is ignored and overlooked. A child living with chronic conditions can often feel lonely, different. They can experience trauma from the pain and from the medical professionals who work with them. They often see doctor after doctor addressing their physical pain, but way too often their mental pain is over looked.
